

CHESTER TIMES – October 10, 1924 – GLENOLDEN IN MIDST OF BIG BOOM IN BUILDING – Hundred Homes to be Erected in Borough This Year in Addition to Those Begun in 1923

At least one hundred new houses will be erected in this borough during 1924, according to estimates made by borough officials, it was announced yesterday. Last year there were two hundred homes either completed or gotten under way in the borough.

On Rambler Road, Builder Milton L. Staley has thirty-seven homes of an operation of fifty completed. Staley, it is understood, will open up the Glasgow tract at Primos Avenue and the pike and will also erect a number of homes on Woodland Avenue.

On N. Scott Avenue, Joseph Dyson has six homes under way, and it is understood he will shortly start the erection of several additional dwellings.

E. Erickson has four houses in course of erection on Scott Avenue, south of Glenolden Avenue, and is erecting a home for his own occupancy on Stewart Avenue, where he recently erected several dwellings.

Charles Parker of Chester is putting up a new home on Cooke Avenue and it is understood will erect two on Llanwellyn Avenue.

In Glen-Nor Heights section, Staley & Son have twenty new homes completed and eight more under way.

In the Llanwellyn section about ten homes are in various stages of construction. Builder Collison of Collingdale will erect several homes at Parker and Ashland Avenues.

Walker & Boekenkamp are building several homes in Glenolden Manor, five being in course of construction on Ridgeway Avenue and seven on Sharp Avenue.

Beckett & Nichols are building on Cooke Avenue and on Sharp Avenue.
